NEWS FLASH: OSHA's Heat Stress Standard is being enforced! Violations can also lead to civil action in some cases. More changes to work place PPE requirements. Learn the latest on workplace safety.

EPA is targeting individuals for improper use of pesticides, with fines up to $24,255 per day! Are your applicators following all the label instructions? Keep up with the changes that could affect you and your business!

Last year alone there were more than 30,000 spills large enough to require reporting to the federal government. Failure to make the necessary notifications can result in substantial fines. Fuel products require reporting in some situations if only one drop is spilled. Do you know what they are?

Do you have fuel tanks? If so, you could be subject to EPA's Spill Prevention, Control, and Countermeasures rule (SPCC). Are you prepared?

Learn the source of the Camp Lejeune water contamination. Could the same happen at your facility?

OSHA requires spill response training for employees responding to an emergency. Responding to a spill utilizing your own personnel and equipment costs a fraction of what an environmental contractor would charge you. Even after a traffic accident regardless of fault any spilled fuel products or pesticides must be cleaned up! Sigma Consulting & Training, Inc. is offering chemical spill response training in your area to prepare your employees to respond to an emergency. Topics include: Spill response procedures, decontamination, personal protective equipment, respiratory protection, chemical storage and handling, and more. Registration fee for the course includes textbooks and handout materials.
